

HHPLift is a nonprofit and an award-winning People & Planet First verified social enterprise where we turn everyday buying into a force for good.

When you choose HHPLift, whether you're buying candles, Smateria bags, or something for the home, your purchase does more than delight. It lifts: setting real economic change in motion by creating jobs, building skills, and opening pathways to independence that start in Chicago and extend to our global social enterprise partners.

When you Buy What You Believe In, you do more than make a sustainable purchase - you invest in excellence and opportunity.

Every high quality, handcrafted product you choose supports our mission to create jobs for people building and rebuilding their lives.
